KEHOE!

Ninth's Eloquent Representative Unanimous Choice For Reelection.

The Democratic District Convention Wednesday a Political Love Feast.

Maysville's Rising Young Statesman Receives an Ovation—A Loving Cup Presented Him by Board of Trade and Bouquets by the Board and the Ladies.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONVENTION.

Hon. James N. Kehoe, the Ninth district's eloquent young Representative in Congress, was not only tendered, by a unanimous voice, the nomination of his party for re-election at Wednesday's convention, but he was tendered an ovation at the hands of his home people and of the Democrats of the district such as few men of his age have ever received.

The convention was a political love feast, and all took their departure feeling that it was good to have been there. The proceedings were marked by greatest harmony and unanimity, and never have the Democrats of the Ninth entered upon a campaign with brighter prospects of victory. Mr. Kehoe's re-election by a largely increased majority is predicted with the greatest confidence.

Never has Maysville's handsome opera house presented a more beautiful appearance. The ladies who had charge of the decorations had wrought a wonderful transformation. An immense flag was the central object at the rear of the stage, with streamers and bunting and smaller flags in great profusion. Over the front of the stage was suspended a portrait of Mr. Kehoe, while resting on easels at either side of the stage were portraits of Bryan and the lamented Goebel. The private boxes were draped in flags, the supports of the balcony were entwined with the national colors, and streamers of bunting hung from front of balcony and gallery. When the electric lights were turned on the decorations were indeed most beautiful.

The convention was called to order at 11 o'clock by Hon. Claude Desha, of Cynthiana, who held proxy for State Chairman Young. His remarks were brief but to the point. He congratulated the Democrats of Kentucky upon the improved order of affairs brought about by the present State administration. The assassins that once lurked about the State Capital were (some of them at least) now behind good strong bars, and would suffer the penalty of a violated law. The Democrats of the Ninth district were especially to be congratulated upon the harmonious condition that prevailed in the ranks. With an organization such as they had two years ago, he felt there was no doubt whatever that the nominee of this convention would be elected by an increased majority. That Democratic prospects were of the brightest was evident from the fact that the Republican nomination is going a begging. The Chairman closed his remarks by introducing Rev. Dr. J. C. Molloy of the Central Presbyterian Church who opened the convention with prayer.

Mr. Geo. B. Martin, of Boyd, was requested to act as Secretary during the preliminary organization.

The temporary organization was effected by the unanimous election of Mr. Desha for Chairman and Mr. Martin for Secretary.

As there were no contests, the appointment of a Committee on Credentials was dispensed with. A call of the counties was taken and the following committees were then named:

On motion of Mr. Slattery the convention took a recess until 1:15 p. m.

When the convention reconvened, Hon. W. A. Byron, Chairman of the Committee on Organization, reported a resolution making the temporary organization permanent. The report was unanimously adopted.

The Committee on Resolutions not being ready to report, Hon. W. A. Byron was called for and spoke at some length, paying Congressman Kehoe a high compliment, and discussing some of the State and national issues.

Judge Osborne, of Cynthiana, presented the report of the Committee on Resolutions, as follows:

Resolved, That we endorse the course of the Democrats in the Congress of the United States in general, but of our gallant young Representative, James N. Kehoe, in particular, and pledge our earnest and undivided support to the nominee of this convention.

Second, We solicit the aid of independent voters of this district in our effort to control the lower House of Congress, believing that the interests of the people and the welfare of the country will be best subserved by having the Democratic party in control of that body.

Third, We endorse the present Democratic State administration in its economical and peaceful conduct of affairs.

Fourth, We adopt the game cock as the emblem under which our nominee shall be placed upon the official ballot.

On motion of Judge Osborne the resolutions were adopted, without a dissenting vote.

The counties were called for nominations. When Mason was reached, Mr. C. Burges Taylor responded, and in an eloquent speech presented Hon. James N. Kehoe, reviewing his splendid record, and paying a glowing tribute to his sterling worth as a man, a citizen of Maysville and a Representative in Congress. Hon. C. L. Williams, of Boyd County, caught the crowd in his speech seconding the nomination, and had them shouting with applause as he made his telling points in favor of Mr. Kehoe and at the expense of the Republicans.

On motion of Mr. Slattery the nomination was made unanimous. C. L. Williams, of Boyd, Geo. B. Caywood, of Rowan, Hon. Frank Powers, of Carter, Mr. Sharp, of Nicholas, and Judge Doniphan, of Bracken, were appointed a committee to notify Mr. Kehoe. He was escorted to the stage, and amid frequent and enthusiastic applause accepted the honor. He said:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Fellow Democrats: We said we would, and we did redeem this district. We say we will and we will keep it redeemed. The victorious flag of Democracy has been "put" to stay in the Ninth. I feel easy on this because I read in the faces of those before me the same enthusiastic determination that marked your conduct of the game and gallant fight of two years ago. We entered that contest with many misgivings that do not confront us now. We made it fairly and won it honestly, and we will make and win this one the same way; but, by an increased majority. A thousand injuries will be little enough this time, boys. (A voice, "We'll make it more than that.") Let us be satisfied with nothing less and aim to get more. The same work that won two years ago will get it. Then our party was beset with troubling differences in the nation and in the State, the strong current of political events was against us, the opposition was fortified, united and in the saddle. We were but part of an ununited whole. With all the odds against us you made and won that fight. I see before and about me the men that did it, and as one good turn deserves another I know you will repeat the dose. I especially congratulate you, as a result of that campaign, upon the good effects following re-establishment of Democratic supremacy in Kentucky, and am sure that you have not and never will forget the Republican filth that afflicted us before that happy event, or the hero that they martyred to our cause, the brave and brainy Wm. Goebel.

There has been somewhat of a shifting of scenery and changing of conditions since we made our last fight. Now, thank God, we are united in the State and nation and our troubling differences are behind us; the current of political events is flowing our way, the enemy is divided; we are somewhat in the saddle ourselves, and, as for myself, held fast by your nomination of to-day, I intend to stick. Throughout the nation the giant of Democracy, happy, hopeful and confident, arrayed in his old-time armor, enters the approaching Congressional campaign to do battle for the whole people, down the trusts and free the Philippines. We've had a hard old-time of it, boys, but it's all over now. The next Congress will be Democratic, the first for eight years. For the first time in the history of the Republican party it is divided upon the important question of the tariff, and the present session of Congress is the only time they have ever found themselves so power and unable to enact such laws, upon that question, as their leaders dictated. Their party has lived upon and won most of its victories with the "fat" fried from tariff spoilsmen; but, at last the time has arrived when the spoilsmen cannot longer agree upon a division of the spoils, and consequently this "Robber Baron" against which we have so long and ardently labored is about to come to judgment. Upon this rock they seem destined to go to pieces. So may it be. I never shall forget the impression made upon me as I sat, your member of the great American Congress, on that memorable 18th day of last April, and saw forty-one regularly elected party Republican members, in opposition to their leaders, march down the aisles of that historic house and cast their votes with the Democrats upon a tariff reduction bill. We Democrats had caucused, and, true to the teachings of our party, stood as one man, ready to put into execution, our faith. For days the debate had gone on. The Republicans had caucused and re-caucused. The President, Speaker, Senators and all the strong influences known to that powerful and practical party were at work. The "party lash" had been used until the cracker was worn off. Every thing that could be had been and was being done to woo or drive the "insurgents" into line. Knowing the heretofore great effect of the powerful influences this practical party had at work, we of the minority could not approach the end with great confidence of a substantial Republican bolt; but, finally, at about 6 p. m., an hour after the death of a regular legislative day, with the sun so far in the West that it barely illumed the dome of the Capitol, the hour for the final test came. The tellers were appointed and took their places. The all-powerful and active Speaker was upon the floor and took his place at the head of the Republican column, and was the first man to march through and record himself in favor of the powerful sugar trust, and close behind him followed all they could command,—only 130. When they had been counted, up rose the united Democracy and "insurgent" Republicans and started for the center aisle. It was apparent that we had them, and Democratic applause broke out, but a "h-h-e" passed along the line. We hushed and halted. Our leader motioned to the "insurgents" to go first, and as forty-one of them passed through, the Speaker standing nearby and eying each, and the Republican leader, Mr. Payne, placing his hand upon their arms and counting them, all was as quiet as death.

Lasting upon me shall be the impression created by the suspense of that moment and the grim determination that shown in the faces of these strong and able men. Scarce a minute and they had all voted and then through went Mr. Richardson and every other Democrat to a man. We did not lose a single one. Soon as the vote was announced there was, of course, prolonged Democratic applause and great rejoicing on our side of the chamber, for it was the first event of the kind in the long history of our fruitless war against an excessive tariff. Verily it was a sight fit for the Democratic gods! How I wish you could have all been there to have seen it; but you will get to celebrate the event with bouquets at the close of the next Presidential campaign, which we will win on that issue. We have long realized that so long as the beneficiaries of an unjust tariff could agree upon the division of the spoils that it would be difficult to defeat them, and that our greatest hope of success lie in the happening of the event which always brings to honest men their just dues. Trusts are the legitimate children of excessive tariff rates. In their greed, and, true to their nature, they have commenced to feed upon one another, which will redound to our success and the good of the American people. In its usual annual effort to fool the people some more the Republican party is working a bluff at prosecuting the trusts. This action is made necessary by the present clamor of the people against the injustices of the tariff and other trusts. But, the action of the administration is a clear bluff, with no sincerity whatever behind it, and only intended to aid the Republican party in the approaching Congressional election. It is a plain proposition that the present administration is as friendly to the trusts as its Republican predecessor, and that it does not mean to use the law against them. Until very recently they have been declaring that there was no law under which the trusts could be prosecuted; but they knew better all the time. As contended by the Democratic party in the last campaign, there is ample law with which to smash all the trusts, if the administration was disposed to use it against them. But it is not, and that day will never come until we have a real Democratic administration.

In this, as in previous campaigns, our Republican friends will, of course, be willing to desert "old glory" for party purposes. We may therefore expect to hear a great deal from all their speakers, from the wild and rough Roosevelt down, about it saying "put" wherever it now floats, etc. They will endeavor to hide the issue of what our foreign policy should be behind our sacred flag and cry "copperhead" and "traitor" at all who have the courage to oppose a cruel and foolish foreign policy. I believe that every true American has the same love and reverence for the stars and stripes, regardless of his politics, and stands ready to make the same sacrifice for it. No people could love their flag more devoutly than Americans do and no people ever had greater cause to be proud of theirs than we have of ours. As for me, God knows I love it with the tenderest tenderness and I never shall, either in or out of Congress, vote or do any act that will detract from its glory. I will not consent to its being driven from the Philippines or knocked down by anybody, anywhere. And this is the position of the Democratic party; and yet we do not favor its remaining in the Philippines. The Democratic party is opposed to sending out of there to our dishonor and is opposed to staying there to our injury and disgrace. We are opposed to all government by force and do not want the Philippines at any price. We are opposed to allowing the flag to be forced down by any people, and are opposed to forcing it up over any people. We believe that it should be protected against disgrace with the same sacredness that it should be guarded from defeat. It was never intended to be the inhabitant of a country transformed into a "howling wilderness" by officers serving under it. Beneath its sacred folds should scowl no conquered subjects. It is the emblem of freedom and should float over no other kind of people.

It is the policy of the present administration to subjugate the Philippines and make of them a colony, to rule them by force, to tax them without representation and to divide their lands and waters among favored friends and corporations. In my opinion this is not and never should become American, and I never shall favor a policy like this in the Philippines or elsewhere. Our party proposes that within ninety days after the Philippines quit shooting at our flag and all armed hostilities shall have ceased the Taft Commission shall have an election in the islands and allow the people to select a congress of 100 members and a Senate of thirty members of their own people for the conduct of their own affairs. This Congress to be elected for four years, and the President of the U. S. to appoint a chief executive officer who shall have a veto power upon said Congress in all matters touching their foreign relations during said time and at the end of which time the whole Government and country is to be turned over to them, except a few necessary coaling, naval and telegraphic stations, which should be retained for our future use. But, with the proviso that if, at the end of the four years, the Philippine Government is not strong enough to stand alone, then, upon their request, we will continue our supervision over their affairs for as much as sixteen years longer, our bill properly providing, of course, for the protection of treaty we made with Spain, and fully and safely guarding the just rights of our people and the dignity of our flag.

We simply mean to give to that country what our forefathers demanded. England should give to this; and what we have just given to Cuba—liberty—the most sacred and sought after possession of mankind.

The Royalists of Great Britain are to-day rejoicing because they have just succeeded in killing two republics, and are now about to crown a new king. We are glorifying over the fact that a new republic, our creation—Cuba—has just been born into the world. The Democratic party believes in making people free and creating republics, feeling that thereby they and all the world are better off. The Republican leaders of to-day, contrary to the teachings of the immortal founder of their party, advocate the adoption of Great Britain's policy by this country and intend to put us into the colonial business. Which horn of that dilemma is right and American? They want subjects. If this policy is to prevail will it not inevitably lead to England's condition of to-day, to wit, jollifying over the death of republics and glorifying over the crowning of a king? God spare America from that awful hour. Democrats are unalterably opposed to any policy leading in that direction. We are not opposed to growth and commercial expansion. On the contrary we are aware of the importance, if not necessity, of both. We realize that a country no more than an individual can afford to stand still. We know that we must go forward or will go backward. But we would rather do business with a free and ambitious people than a cowed and subjugated one. We wish to hold no people back in the race of life, but want all to press onward and upward, fearing none in the contest. All the world is akin to us, and the elevation of any people is bound to help all the balance of mankind. We all go up or go down together. In politics, as in other matters, the right thing is always the proper thing to do. When all the world shall be free, and humanity has reached its most advanced stage, America and Americans will be found in the lead.

The Democratic party has ever favored proper territorial acquisition upon free and fair terms, but never has and never will advocate the taking of same by force. The recent order of General Smith in the Philippines, "to kill and burn and make Samar a howling wilderness," killing all males over ten years as soon as seen, without cause or trial, was not a Democratic measure, and the man that conceived and issued that order would not be allowed to wear an American uniform another day if Democrats had control of this country. That order will remain a black spot upon our flag—the only one of its kind—but it will not be without companions if we continue in the colonial business. I pity the American soldier in these possessions, and have no harsh word for him because he executes the orders of his superiors; but I feel the shame, as every true American must, of his superior's acts. The subjugation of a people is cruel in itself, and it cannot be accomplished by other than outrageous and disgraceful means. While I am ashamed, yet I am not surprised at what has happened in the Philippines. If possible, I look for worse to follow under the existing policy.

Commercially speaking the Philippines will be worth infinitely more to us as a nation than as a colony. The war there has cost us, so far, more than our profits on our present trade with them would amount to in 200 years.

The Democratic party does not now and never has stood for a narrow policy. During the present session of Congress we have voted to build an inter-ocean canal, to extend the blessings of statehood to three territories, to improve the rivers and harbors of our country, to water the arid lands of the West, to reduce taxes, to restrict improper immigration, stop anarchy and advance and improve the general welfare of our common country. We have opposed and will continue to oppose the pending and all other wars of subjugation. Ours, a peaceful nation, is the only one on earth engaged in the waging of a war to-day, and that is a war of cruel, unholly conquest against a people who simply want to be free. I want nothing for myself that I am not willing to grant in kind unto others. That is my idea of right and Democracy.

For these things we stand and along these lines we will make and win the approaching fight.

In conclusion, my friends, permit me to return to you, and through you to the very kind Democrats of this district, my most sincere and profound thanks for the renewed honor of this day. I would be a strange and singular man indeed if I did not feel flattered by the events of this hour. To be elected to a seat in the great American Congress is an ambition worthy of any man, and to be the member of as large and intelligent and patriotic a constituency as composes this district is not the privilege of every member. Few, indeed, enjoy such a distinction; and upon none has it ever been conferred with more kindness and open-hearted generosity than upon myself. Twice has the great Democratic party of this district unanimously selected me as its standard bearer, and the people of this district gave to me the largest vote ever cast for any man for any office. As I stand here to accept this nomination I feel a double sense of pride and gratitude. I feel that it comes both as a tribute from my friends and a reward from my countrymen for acceptable services rendered. My greatest ambition in life has been to properly discharge all obligations that I assumed and the sweetest joy I feel to-day is the sense of endorsement conveyed by this nomination. Promptly and to the best of my ability I have responded to every call made upon me by a resident of this district, regardless of sex, color or politics, and I have not missed a Democratic caucus or cast any other kind of a vote since I have been in Congress. While true to my party I have faithfully tried to be the Representative of the whole people. My record of the past will be my conduct of the future.

On yonder hillside, within the sound of your pleasing buzzes, I was born. Within this good old town and with this kind people, I have spent all the days of my life. Over every foot of these beautiful hills and this fair valley I romped in boyhood days. Here all of my children were born. From here to the throne of God ascended the spirit of my great and good mother. Here I have met and conquered all the obligations of life as they grew upon me, and when my time shall come, here I want to "rest by the wayside." The fates and all mankind have been good to me; but, somehow, I am gladder on this spot and surrounded by this people to accept from your hands this great and fully appreciated honor than I would be anywhere else on earth. Into no grateful heart could be crowded more thanks and satisfaction than I now feel, and no matter what fortunes or misfortunes the future may

ARMY OF PENSIONERS.

Million Mark Will Soon Be Reached.
Ware's Troubles.

[Washington Cor. Chicago Record-Herald.]
One million pensioners on Uncle Sam's roll. This is the great total that is likely to be soon reached. Instead of diminishing, the number of pensioners is steadily increasing, and the million mark may be passed in a short time. A special statement that was made up yesterday at the request of the Commissioner showed the total of 998,333 pensioners on the rolls April 30th.

Should Congress adopt some legislation favorable to pensions next year, or soon thereafter, there would be no way of telling how many pensioners Uncle Sam would have on his roll. It may surprise some to know that there are now pending in the pension office 353,259 claims for pension, of which 33,611 are due to the war with Spain.

Commissioner Ware is having a difficult time in trying not to lay down a policy for considering pension matters. He has been pursued by a perfect army of attorneys and Grand Army of the Republic men and by people on the other side of the question, who want to influence him one way or the other. He says they actually follow him out to Kansas and try to reach him through his wife and even more distant relatives.

KEHOE!

hold for me the joyous memory of this day shall never, never depart.

But one word more. Go home prepared to work as you did two years ago and be assured of success. The Republican party never entered a Congressional campaign in a worse fix than they approach this one. I heard a story the other day that fully illustrated their present condition. An Irishman and his friend were rooming on the third floor of a hotel. During the night the building caught fire and when Pat's friend awoke him all lights were out and all avenues of escape cut off except through the windows. As the flames leaped and fire cracked about him he hurried into his pants and got them on backwards and in that fix out the window he and his friend leaped to the street below. As soon as they recovered consciousness and wind, Pat's friend asked him if he was badly hurt. Pat sat up, looked down at himself and said: "I can't tell yet just how bad I am hurt, but you can see that I am fearfully and awfully twisted."

At the close of Mr. Kehoe's speech, a handsome bouquet from the ladies of the city was presented him by Chairman Desha. In accepting it Mr. Kehoe paid a touching tribute to womanhood.

President Duley of the Board of Trade was next introduced and presented Mr. Kehoe with another beautiful bouquet and also with a gold-lined loving cup as a token of the appreciation felt by the business men of Maysville of his success in securing a public building for Maysville and for his untiring work on behalf of his home city and people. The nominee was taken by surprise, but his acceptance of these gifts was couched in such feeling words that many in the audience were moved to tears.

The convention tendered a vote of thanks to the people of Maysville for their hearty reception and to the ladies for their work in decorating the house, and then adjourned, sine die.

Indians Threaten Trouble.

Washington, June 19.—The war department has transmitted to the interior department information that trouble is threatened among the Apache Indians on the San Carlos reservation, in Arizona, on account of the proposed shutting off of beef and other rations after July 1 next. The action of the war department is based on reports received from General Funston, commanding the department of Arizona, saying that the Indians are very much agitated over the proposed action of the government, and predicting that in case the rations are discontinued, the Indians will take beef and other supplies wherever they can get them in that section, regardless of consequences. Governor Murphy of Arizona is in the city, and has received advices along the same line. As a result of these reports, it is understood that the interior department will suspend the order of discontinuance of the rations.

On Outcome of Corner on July Corn Engineered at Chicago.

PRICES GO UP AND QUICKLY DROP.

Battle of the Speculators Rages
Fiercely and Fortunes Are Made and Lost in the Twinkling of an Eye.

Chicago, June 19.—The corn pit was again the scene of a turbulent mob of grain speculators. Prices soared skyward under the manipulation of the crowd that has cornered July options, and as quickly dropped with a thud. Every trader in the pit was kept guessing as to what would be the price at the end of the day. Natural conditions were entirely ignored. In the first 10 minutes advances of 1½ cents were made. In the next hour prices slumped 3 cents.

All sorts of conjectures were made as to the final outcome of the corner. Private elevators are making contract corn as fast as possible, in order to grade in and overcome the congested condition. In three days 500,000 bushels have been made.

Just as earnest is the bull clique to keep cash stocks out of this market. Country markets are rushing corn here to take advantage of the high prices, but opposed to this movement is that of the bull operators, who are buying up cash stuff and sending it at a discount to prevent large arrivals. Efforts are even being made to ship stuff to Milwaukee to grade in that market.

July options practically control all action on the board of trade. At the opening they sold ½ to 1½ cents higher than the previous day's closing price, the first two sales being made at 68 cents and 69 cents. From the top figures there was a constant and rapid decline brought about by a whipsawing process of the bulls, until July touched at 66 cents. September options showed strength following July, but did not fluctuate widely.

Lynchers Foiled.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 19.—Charles Scott, the negro, who shot and killed Samuel Jones and Mrs. John Dull, and who was threatened with lynching by the Hungarian friends of the murdered woman, was spirited away by the sheriff during the night. The sheriff, accompanied by 12 guards, arrived at Connersville, the scene of the crime, shortly after midnight. The guards were stationed at the entrance to the cabin containing Scott and the mob was driven back, still muttering threats against the negro. At 2 a. m., the husband of the murdered woman, aided by the mob, moved on the cabin and finally broke in the door, but the guards had secreted Scott. They got him out through the cellar unobserved and managed to get him to Steubenville, where he was safely jailed.

Dr. Lee Wing Lands.

San Francisco, June 19.—The Chinese bureau is in a ferment over the landing of Dr. Lee Wing from the steamer Gaelic on Friday last. The physician is 74 years old, a graduate of Yale, and dressed in the garb of a European. It is evident that he passed the inspector at the gang plank without a doubt of his right to land, for he had "declared" on his baggage and paid $15 on dutiable articles, which it contained. Feeling secure in his papers of naturalization to American citizenship, he then went ashore, no one recognizing his Asiatic blood. He is now on his way to New Haven, Conn.

Wharton's Gift.

Philadelphia, June 19.—During the one hundred and forty-sixth annual commencement exercises of the university of Pennsylvania, Provost Harrison announced that Joseph Wharton, founder of the Wharton School of Finance and Economy, at the university, had increased his endowment of the school from $200,000 to $500,000.

The Venice Escapade.

London, June 19.—The text of the findings of the court of inquiry in the case of the United States naval officers imprisoned at Venice in the latter part of April throws new light upon the affair. It now appears that the United States consul at Venice, Henry A. Johnson, and the lawyer provided by him for the defense, urged the officers to plead that they were violently drunk. This they utterly declined to do. Rear Admiral Crowninshield, commanding the European squadron, in reviewing the findings of the court severely censures Captain James H. Dayton, the commander of the Chicago, for not personally attending to the defense of the officers, and comments on the revolting indignities suffered by the officers while confined at Venice. Under the circumstances, Admiral Crowninshield holds a "court-martial would be a farce." Captain Dayton's court of inquiry minutely traces the movement of the officers of the Chicago on the day of their arrest, and says that Lieutenant J. S. Doddridge and Surgeon R. S. Ledbetter were "affected by liquor to a noticeable extent, but were not intoxicated in the ordinary meaning of the term, and there is no evidence that the other parties were affected by drinking."

Harper Denies It.

Chicago, June 19.—The report that John D. Rockefeller had given the University of Chicago $750,000, not heretofore announced, was denied by President Harper. "The report that this sum came from Mr. Rockefeller is untrue," said Dr. Harper. "The money came from different people—about 40 of them. I am not at liberty to give out their names, and hence can not answer the question whether Mr. Rockefeller was among the donors."

HAPPILY WEDDED.

The Lawwill-Lane Nuptials Last Evening
The McCarthy-Beasley Wedding
Solemnized Tuesday Evening.

At the residence of Mr. I. M. Lane last evening was solemnized the marriage of his daughter, Nannie B., to Mr. Hugh Lawwill, of Huntington, W. Va. The home had been transformed into a regular tropical forest and landscape garden, the former occupying the front parlor and the latter the rear and dining-room, while the staircase, hall and porches were green and white in their dress of smilax, ferns and linen. A flood of light shed its wreath of influence over the picture, while a hundred guests thronged the delighted home.

At 8:30 the strains of Tannhauser softly came from the piano, and the groom and bride approached from the dining-room through an aisle of relatives and friends, smiling, gracious and with a path of prayer and good wishes for them to walk upon. Coming to the extreme front beneath the arch of stately palms, Mr. Lawwill and Miss Lane faced Rev. Mr. Harrop to take the vows and hear the words which would link them in the bonds of holy marriage. Rev. Mr. Harrop was very impressive in his reading of the beautiful ritual which was his signet ring of priestly approbation upon a union of two hearts linked by love.

The bride was dressed in white, her gown, a sumptuous creation, cut low, with skirt of opulent fullness; the bodice twined with pearl strings into lover's knots galore. She wore no gloves, nor carried flowers; in her hand an ivory fan, a symbol of the colonial dames, demure, sweet and beautiful. Her presence was an inspiration, her gracious loveliness infectious.

Mr. Lawwill is a very fine appearing young man with lustrous eyes and beaming countenance, betokening his knowledge of the prize he had won to share his future lot.

The presents were many and very sensibly given, as they were made up of useful articles for domestic comfort. They were displayed in the hall above. In the dining room refreshing ices and cakes with frappe were served.

At 10:46 Mr. and Mrs. Lawwill left for Huntington to found their home. May it be one into which only sunshine shall come.

M'CARTHEY-BEASLEY.

Mr. Charles L. McCarthy and Miss Margaret Simpson Beasley were happily wedded Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride, Rev. F. W. Harrop performing the impressive nuptial ceremony. The marriage was a quiet home affair, only relatives and a few close friends being present.

The bride, a brunette of pronounced type, was beautiful in her gown of white. She is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Beasley. The groom is the only son of Mr. P. M. McCarthy.

The newly-wedded left on the 10:46 train for the groom's home at Marietta, followed by the good wishes of their large circle of friends.

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It in Maysville.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit and they cannot be blamed, for so many in the past have been humbugged. The experience of hundreds of Maysville residents expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation.

Mrs. E. J. Thompson, of 911 East Second street, says: "Mr. Thompson procured Doan's Kidney Pills at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store, corner of West Second and Market streets, and speaks in high praise of their curative powers. Entire exemption from suffering from backache is something so entirely unusual that a remedy which acts so promptly and effectively, as did Doan's Kidney Pills, is a most desirable one of which to know."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no substitute.

Date of Convention.

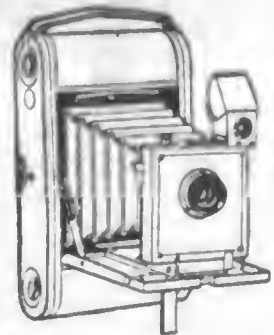

Indianapolis, June 19.—The call for a special convention of the United Mine Workers of America, to be held at Indianapolis July 17 next, was issued from the miners' headquarters here. The call is addressed to the local unions of the United Mine Workers, and is signed by John Mitchell, national president, and W. B. Wilson, national secretary and treasurer. The call says: "Districts Nos. 1, 7, 9, 17 and 24 have requested the national president to call a special convention, and you are hereby notified that a special convention of the United Mine Workers of America will be held in Indianapolis, Ind., Thursday, July 17, 1902, for the purpose of considering a proposition for a general suspension of work by the coal miners of the United States, in support of the anthracite mine workers, who are now on strike. Representatives to the national convention are to be elected directly from local unions, and have one vote for 199 members, or majority fraction thereof, but no representative shall have more than five votes and no person shall be eligible as representative who is not a miner or mine worker, or employed by the organization, and is a bona fide member of a local union in the district where said delegate resides."

The Shakespearean readings by Mr. Wood and the solos on Friday evening will be very artistic.

Killed by a Colored Man.

Peru, Ind., June 19.—Clarence Gillespie, a young molder, whose home is in Glasgow, Pa., died from a bullet wound received on Sunday in a saloon from John Haynes, colored. Haynes is now in custody and extra guards have been placed around the jail to prevent a threatened lynching.

SALVADOR AROUSED*

Decision of Arbitration Court in Burrell Case Creates a Furore.

New Orleans, June 19.—The latest news from the republic of Salvador, via Guatemala, indicates a state of frenzy aroused by the recent decision of the Washington court of arbitration in the Burrell case. The president of the little republic and most of the members of the national assembly have signed a pronouncement to the people, declaring that the decision of the court was a scandal and a crime; that the judges were bribed; that the Salvadorean representatives were treated in a scandalous fashion, and that Dr. Zaldiver, one of the Salvadorean representatives, was recreant to his trust, and now is in Europe to escape the results of his actions.

Smugglers at Work.

Havana, June 19.—The nonarrival of the United States consul general to Havana and consuls appointed to Matanzas, Cienfuegos and Santiago has resulted in seriously delaying commerce with the United States. Since the evacuation of the island by the United States forces, piracy and smuggling along the Cuban coast have increased enormously. The collectors of half a dozen ports are constantly requesting the assistance of revenue cutters. The chief offenders are smugglers from Jamaica, Nassau and Barbadoes. There are only two cutters available to guard 2,000 miles of coast line. Four others owned by the government are at present out of commission. Six smugglers, which were violating the turtle fishery laws, have been captured. Many others are under surveillance, and probably will be captured on the arrival of assistance.

Policeman and Rioter Shot.

New York, June 19.—A meeting of the striking dyers' helpers, held at Paterson, N. J., was followed by a riot, in which one policeman, Charles Robinson, received a bullet wound in the arm. The wounded striker was shot in the neck. He was carried away by his comrades and the police have not learned his name. The trouble did not last long, and the mob was soon dispersed and quiet restored in the city. The strikers visited the various mills to order men out. At one mill they met resistance and trouble ensued. The police were called. The strikers hurled volleys of stones at the mill, smashing every pane of glass in the building, and then forced their way through the main entrance and drove out the employees. In the melee shots were fired, with the above results.

Additional Prizes For Airships.

St. Louis, June 19.—Rules and regulations to govern the selection and work of the juries of award at the exposition and the rules of the airship tournament have been adopted by the exposition executive committee. The rules governing the airship tournament were delivered to Director of Exhibits Skiff, who will make them up in a few days. In connection with the airship tournament the executive committee decided to offer additional prizes, to be given for motors for airships or dirigible balloons.

Waller at Chicago.

Chicago, June 19.—Major W. T. Waller of the United States marine corps, who was recently court-martialed for carrying out the "kill" order of General Smith in the Philippines, passed through the city early on his way to the Brooklyn navy yard. With Major Warner was a detachment of 298 marines. The party stayed over only long enough to have their cars inspected. Major Waller refused further to discuss army matters.

Good Crowd at Ascot Races.

London, June 19.—Sunny weather and the promise of good sport were quite sufficient to attract big crowds to Ascot Heath, without the presence of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. The king has practically recovered from his indisposition, and their majesties are to go to the races in state. The Prince of Wales represented the royal family at Ascot.

Washington, June 19.—The house went into committee of the whole and entered upon the consideration of the general deficiency appropriation bill. While Mr. Cannon, who was in charge of the bill, was trying to arrange for the division of time, he announced that if he could have his way congress would adjourn sine die before July 4. The announcement was greeted with applause on both sides of the house.
